Greetings! I am inviting to join us at the 71st Annual NASAP Adlerian Psychology Conference that will be held in Denver, CO June 1-4, 2023. The theme for this year's conference is "Changemaking: Everything Can Always Be Different". This theme was chosen to highlight the hope and encouragement we can bring to the world.

Our conference is NBCC and Colorado Psychological Association approved for CEs.

Our pre-conference day features a day of self and community-care learning and experiencing many practices such as laughter yoga, mindfulness, art therapy and more...Our general sessions are hands-on and practical with session demonstrations and live family consultation session. We have sessions on social justice integration, assessment, play therapy, art therapy, early recollections, grief and more...Post conference workshops provide in depth learning.

I hope that you can take advantage of our group discounts and attend this conference that has a large national and international outreach.

Looking forward to seeing you in our 71st Annual Conference!

Sincerely,
